WOMAN ARRESTED ON "PANDERING" CHARGE

Bell Bain, better known to the officers as Belle Foster, was arrested yesterday afternoon upon warrant based on grand jury indictment, charging "pandering," the exact nature of the allegation being that the woman had caused her own daughter to be used immorally, in this city. This is the first arrest in Amarillo under this new law, which was a portion of the enactments of the Texas legislature of 1911. The offense with which the woman stands charged, is punishable by fine of from five years in the penitentiary up, the limit as to maximum being in the hands of the jury.

This is the first indictment to be returned to the court by the grand jury during the present term. The arrest of the woman was followed shortly by her incarceration in the county jail.

CATTLE LOSSES LIGHT IN LUBBOCK COUNTY

By Daily News Staff Correspondent.
Lubbock, Tex., Jan. 12.—Lubbock has had so far a stormy winter with no extreme cold weather and a snow-fall which, while sufficiently heavy to insure winter wheat growth, has not interfered with range stock feeding.

Cattle are being more or less fed on milo maize, kaffir, cane and oil cake—considerable of the rough feeding being on uncut forage fields.

Losses up to the present are practically nil, and, under any now possible circumstances, will be light. The fifty thousand acres cultivated in the county last season will be swelled this year to sixty thousand—and perhaps—seventy thousand acres, the increase being chiefly in stock feed stuffs and winter wheat. Many new farmers have come in, while the older ones are largely adding to their farm acreages. This year's cotton planting will be at least as much as that of last season—probably reaching 1,000 acres.

The McWhorter, Bacon, Biggor and McMillan pumpage irrigation wells will all be in operation this year with an aggregate of several hundred acres under cultivation, chiefly in alfalfa and garden truck. One or two more of such wells may be, also, ready for irrigated cropage this season.

Probably 250 acres of peanuts will be planted in the county this season—farmers organizing for this purpose with individual pledged acreages—the crop to be chiefly used as a hog fattener.

WELDMAN DECLARED INSANE BY JURORS

Inquiry into the mental state of Charles Weldman, in the county court yesterday, resulted in determination by the jury that the defendant is insane. Investigation of the condition of Mrs. Crwaford on a similar count, was continued until today.
